

McDevitt, line coach, is giving the forwards much attention. Out in Evanston it is figured that if the Ohio backs can be stopped through the line, the end and defensive backs will be able to take care of Chick Harley on his swinging wing runs.

One section of the dope should remain unjumbled after Saturday. That is pre-game information that points to an overwhelming victory for Minnesota against Chicago. The Gophers ran over Wisconsin last week, and Chicago has nothing better to offer on defense than the Badgers.

Joe Welling and Ever Hammer clash in a ten-round bout at Racine tonight, and there is plenty of local interest, both boys being Chicagoans. A year ago in the same ring Hammer upset the dope and won the popular decision over Welling.

On their past records Hammer has no license to defeat Welling. Joe has the greater experience and has met better men than Hammer. Ever has had a peculiar record recently. He outpointed Fred Welsh and Ad Wolgast, lost to Johnny O'Leary and Johnny Dundee by close margins, and was technically stopped by Benny Leonard.

Despite these reverses, Hammer believes he will repeat his former victory over Welling. The majority of the so-called wise money is being placed on Welling. The men will weigh 138 pounds ringside.

Schurz High has waived its disputed contest with Senn, and the protested battle goes to Senn as a forfeit. As a result, Senn will meet Crane Saturday for the lightweight championship of the northern division.

Bill Brennan, Chicago heavy, turned the tables on Tom Cowler in New York and fought the Britisher off his feet. Cowler took a decision over Brennan in their fight two weeks ago. Last night the men were even until the tenth round, when Brennan cut loose and rushed Cowler all over the ring. The Briton covered to escape punishment. In the third round Cowler went down for the count of eight, and in the fifth Brennan was floored for the five count.

Joe Rivers knocked out Joe Thomas in the third round at New Orleans. Rivers' right did the work, Thomas' head hitting the floor before his feet. Thomas suffered a slight concussion, but will recover.
